

[SCANNING CIRCUIT STRUCTURE]

Abstract of Disclosure

A scanning circuit having rearranged circuit modules at each end of a flat cable. After the rearrangement, the flat cable carries scanning control signals produced by a conventional IC communication interface instead of timing signals and carries digital image data instead of easily distorted and interfered analog image signals.

10064265 9 DE 2 P 0 2

Figures

卷之三